

Environmental Business Conference draws record number of consulting engineers

ACEC Indiana's 7th Annual Environmental Business Conference drew a record audience of professional consulting engineers to learn about some of the latest environmental issues and business opportunities for their firms. IDEM's update covered regulatory changes ahead, IFA shared the funding future, and State Representative David Wolkins, Chairman of the House Environmental Committee, outlined the next legislative session. In addition, a case study from Metro Atlanta on its water supply and public outreach engaged the participants, and informative presentations on Hydro-Fracking and Climate Change & its impact on Levee Design earned high marks. Finally, the new ISI/Envision Rating System for horizontal infrastructure was thoroughly unveiled for firms to consider enrolling. Thank you to Somerset CPA's for its sponsorship of another successful conference.

LEFT: Bruno Pigott, Deputy Commissioner, IDEM Office of Water Quality
CENTER: Raymond Wilke, P.E., Watershed Director, Atlanta Water Supply System
RIGHT: Gene Koontz, P.E., Senior Vice President, Gannett Fleming

Strengthening the Bridge Between Prime Consultants and Diversity Businesses at the ACEC Indiana Networking Fair & Reception

Tuesday, Nov. 15 -- 3 to 6 p.m. -- Marriott East Indianapolis

Featured Speakers

Steve Schultz

Jeff Harrison

Attendee (prime consultants, non-exhibitors)
Enjoy cocktails and appetizers while you network!

$50 for first registrant from a firm

$20 for every additional registrant from the same firm

Click here for more details and to register!

Independent
Concrete
Pipe

Eric A. Carleton, P.E.
Corporate Engineer

Steven R. Smart
HY-SPAN Bridge Systems Manager

